

Joshua Tee Tian Jin

9A's Scorer in PT3 2014

“Study hard and study smart”

There are two well-known methods for studying for exams. In my opinion, those two methods are study hard and study smart which should be used simultaneously to produce the best results. Firstly, I strongly believe that to achieve success, one must first know and understand one's own weaknesses.

By doing so, it will help to strategically plan out what to study for the upcoming exams. Besides that, I also believe that studying on a regular basis is a good practice and will help you get good grades during exams. For example, I always plan out a study schedule to help me manage my studying time and ensure that I keep up with my peers. In conclusion one must be strategic and plot out subjects that require his or her attention as well as not be lazy but be diligent to achieve excellence.